In response to Dr. Cisneros, Mr. Clyde McCollough, Director of Personnel, assured the Council that the mandatory retirement age provision now reads 70 years of age. In response to Mr. Hartman's question, Mr. McCollough stated that a procedure for reduction in force is set out and reads as follows:

In the event of a reduction in force, City employees will be laid off according to seniority with the City. If two or more employees have the same seniority, the proficiency rating will be used to break any tie.

Mrs. Dutmer took exception to what had been printed in a newspaper and stated that she had been misquoted with regard to age 70 as the mandatory retirement age. She then made the following statement:

I said that I thought it was penalizing these people because their social security is based on the best five years out of the last ten years, and that normally people of this age are not at the high peak of their incomes at this age and that would lower their income from social security. That is all I said.
